Extend the Impact of Every Book You Give

More resources to help strengthen literacy at home and during program time

NEW Resources for Home & Program Learning

For decades, Literacy Partnerships has helped put books into the hands of children, building a foundation for lifelong literacy.

Now, we're expanding your membership to include ready-to-use literacy resources that support learning at home and during program time.

Designed for community-based organizations and public libraries, these resources serve PreK–3 learners, with additional options for Grades 4–6.

Extend the impact of take-home books and help children build essential skills at home, after school, or during summer programming.

Support Learning at Home

Take-Home Books & Resources

Help families foster strong reading habits by pairing books with materials that make literacy practice easy, joyful, and achievable.

- Books that spark interest and build confidence
- Workbooks for independent skill practice
- Learning games that make reading fun
- Flashcards for quick, meaningful review

These resources reinforce the reading children do at home and help families feel confident in supporting their literacy development.

Strengthen Learning During Program Time

In-Program Learning Materials

Give program staff flexible tools and materials that make literacy instruction engaging and manageable, whether they're leading a whole-group activity, setting up centers, or providing independent learning fun!

- Multi-copy book sets for small-group and independent reading
- Activity books with reproducible lessons and games
- Wipe-clean workbooks for repeated practice
